

Backyard Hen Registry

Every chicken kept on a residential zoned lot less than 1 Acre is required to be registered with the City. Registration is free, but mandatory, and may be made online, by mail, or by email. The Surrey Zoning Bylaw 1993, No. 12000 explains the rules and requirements for the minimum lot size, location of your coop, and the amount of hens permitted to be kept on a residential lot. The Surrey Chicken Keeping Bylaw explains the rules and requirements for the keeping of backyard hens, including the size of your coop; how to protect the health of people living in the area; as well as ensure that the hens are treated humanely.

Please fill in this form to register your property/hens with the City or do so by submitting our online registration form. If information is authenticated by the city, a confirmation of your registration to keep hens will be provided by the Bylaws & Licencing division within 12-15 business days.
